

About 1970, strange things started happening at the border dividing the United States and Mexico. Hundreds of undocumented migrants began reporting that whenever they found themselves in trouble, a strange Mexican priest called Toribio Romo would suddenly appear and help them cross the border. Even giving them food, water, money and information on how to get jobs in the United States. Sometimes, he came upon migrants suffering from heat exhaustion, snake bites, and other infirmities. He healed them as well. The immigrants thought he was a human being; not a guardian angel.
