

in SITE 04

inSITE94 is a collaborative project of 38 nonprofit visual arts organizations in San Diego and Tijuana collectively sponsoring new works by more than 100 artists at 37 sites throughout the region.

Santa Fe Depot
1050 Kettner Boulevard
San Diego

Self-parking

in SITE 04

Explore the Art of International Collaboration with Colleagues from

The San Diego Press Club
Asian-American Journalism Associations
Native American Journalists
National Association of Black Journalists
North San Diego Press Club
Society of Professional Journalists
Tijuana Press Associations

The San Diego Press Club and inSITE94

invite you to attend a

Binational Mixer

6 to 8 p.m.

Thursday, September 29

The Santa Fe Depot

Kettner and Broadway, downtown San Diego

Journalists from Tijuana and six local press organizations are invited to join Press Club members at a reception and private showing of 14 installation art works created for inSITE94. The party will be centered in the cavernous never-before-open-to-the-public baggage building at the depot, and at the Museum of Contemporary Art, San Diego, across the street.

Hors d'oeuvres and wine generously provided by Romeo Cucina and other restaurants.

inSITE94 is a binational exhibition of installation and site-specific art that involves virtually every not-for-profit visual arts organization in the region, more than 100 artists from 13 countries and 74 temporary art works at 37 separate venues.

Participating organizations include Asian-American journalists associations, National Association of Black Journalists, North San Diego Press Club, San Diego Press Club, Society of Professional Journalists, as well as Tijuana journalism societies.

Tickets $5

RSVP by Sept. 26 (619) 299-5747